- BBA – Mendoza College of Business at University of Notre Dame

Meg currently serves as an Associate where she is responsible for conducting financial and operational analysis, developing key performance indicators, supporting value creation initiatives, constructing 13-week cash flows, analyzing working capital assessments and assisting in the overall implementation of value maximization strategies

Prior to joining Portage Point, Meg was an Investment Banking Analyst in the Diversified Industries Group at J.P. Morgan, where she focused on analyzing and executing strategic alternatives for industry group clients over $500 million in enterprise value using discounted cash flow, comparable company and precedent transaction analyses

Meg graduated Magna Cum Laude from the Mendoza College of Business at the University of Notre Dame and was the President of the Wall Street Club. Meg holds her Series 63 and 79

Automotive Supply Company

Partnered with management team on the carve-out transaction of a non-core business segment for an automotive supply company. Developed an array of strategic alternatives and transaction structures directly with the Vice President of Strategy to be evaluated with the broader management team. Engaged with a broad network of both strategic and financial buyers and identified operational synergies with strategic buyers in order to derive the greatest shareholder value for the parent company

Specialty Vehicle Company

Supported the carve-out transaction of a non-core business segment for a specialty vehicle manufacturer. Utilized financial data provided by the CFO of the business segment and engaged with other members of the management team to deliver comprehensive presentations to potential buyers. Developed a financial model to evaluate an appropriate purchase price for the business segment and to assess the value of a potential equity stake in the buyer
